

Design revolution: pioneer of the Bauhauses

Weimar and the dawn of modernity: in five creative years Gropius, Feininger, Itten, Kandinsky, Klee and Schlemmer created a new language of form. The Bauhaus left behind a white, square house on the edge of the park and many objects of revolutionary design. The mastermind of the Bauhaus, Henry van de Velde from Belgium, thought and designed avant-gardely - an universal artist whose Weimar period became his most productive phase of life.
